Activity 1

Solve the following problems.

1. Calculate the amount of charge represented by four million protons.
2. The current through an element is shown below. Determine the total charge that passed through the element.